

Milan,
the unexpected
green-growing city.

7th edition

Politecnico di Milano
AUIC School
DASTU Department
March 19-23, 2018

International students are called to discover, analyse, and discuss through lectures and guided visits Milan as a city where gardens, parks, and greenery have always been part of its continuous transformation during its millenary history. Focusing on environmental design and landscape architecture techniques, this course introduces – also to students without any architectural or landscape architectural background – the relevant meaning of these multi-layered open space infrastructures inside a contemporary urban metropolis.
